ESG investing makes an impact

BY JENNY NG

While the de-rating of certain companies on Bursa Malaysia owing to sustainability issues has been taking place in recent years, 2021 may be remembered for the significant impact environmental, social and governance (ESG) investing has had on local equities.

The most recent and palpable effect was seen in the sharp sell-down in stocks of electronics manufacturing service (EMS) providers when news of forced labour involving these companies emerged. As news of potential labour problems at VS Industry Bhd spread on Dec 2, the Employees Provident Fund reacted swiftly, selling 21.67 million shares in the EMS counter and ceasing to be a substantial shareholder the very same day.

Later in the day, Kumpulan Wang Persaraan (Diperbadankan) followed suit, disposing of 6.58 million shares in the company.

The sell-down of VS Industry shares coincided with an investor briefing organised by Credit Suisse, where migrant worker rights activist Andy Hall touched on the Responsible Business Alliance's audit on the company, among other concerns.

VS Industry's share price reached a 52-week low of 99.5 sen that day.

Competitor SKP Resources Bhd was also not spared as selling pressure weighed on its shares. Both VS Industry and SKP Resources eventually and separately issued joint statements with Hall, promising to further improve the welfare of foreign labour in their employment.

In the Minority Shareholders Watch Group newsletter on Dec 17, its CEO Devanesan Evanson said these developments show that ESG will feature prominently in fund managers' investment decisions.

"It will not be profit-at-all-costs for these fund managers. They will be prepared to take a lower profit or even a loss to send the right message to the market — that ESG matters," he wrote, adding that fund managers' preferences and inclinations will have an impact on share prices, and this will be another consideration that minority shareholders should watch out for.

During the year, it is evident that plantation stocks decoupled from the rally in crude palm oil (CPO) price as foreign funds shunned these counters due to environmental and sustainability concerns. Despite CPO reaching a historic high of RM5,000 per metric tonne for a year-to-date gain of 62%, the KL Plantation Index actually lost 11%.

Commenting on the de-rating of companies on Bursa Malaysia due to ESG requirements, Chris Eng, chief strategy officer of Etiqa Insurance and Takaful, a member of the Maybank Group, says the pressure from ESG investors will raise the operating standards and practices of companies in the long run despite the short-term pains.

"It's a clash of standards and expectations between practice and the evolving expectations of foreign investors. The perception may change one day but not in the next few years, which is a pity," he says.

On the lacklustre performance of plantation stocks, Eng thinks the production of palm oil can be sustainably managed, but investing in the producers requires in-depth research. "The problem is the perception of palm oil is negative. And given the negligible percentage of plantation stocks in the portfolios of foreign funds, they are avoided totally," Eng explains. E

Flood damage coverage for car insurance in Malaysia – how much does it cost for Special Perils add-on?

When renewing your auto insurance, you've probably been offered several add-ons that you can include in your policy before payment. One of the more common ones is flood coverage or special perils, which, in light of the recent floods that struck several states in Malaysia (and future such incidents), is proving to be more and more important.

Looking at images of submerged cars on social media, it's clear that the risk of floods shouldn't be overlooked as it can have a serious impact on your financial wellbeing. You could live in an area that isn't prone to flooding, but if you're heading out and a heavy downpour occurs, things can change quickly and you could find you and your vehicle caught in an undesirable situation.

Should your policy not include special perils coverage, there's not much you can do to submit a claim in the event your vehicle is damaged by floods, and you'll likely have to fork out a lot of money to pay a hefty repair bill.

Many insurance providers here provide special perils coverage for a certain fee, which is typically calculated by applying a rate onto the vehicle's agreed/insured value. It still won't be pleasant to see the state of your car after it's been affected by flood waters, but you'll at least have some form of financial protection for respite.

Insurance provider	Special perils rate on agreed/insured value	Special perils cost if RM25,000 agreed/insured value (before 6% SST)	Special perils cost if RM50,000 agreed/insured value (before 6% SST)	Special perils cost if RM100,000 agreed/insured value (before 6% SST)	Special perils cost if RM200,000 agreed/insured value (before 6% SST)
AIA	0.45%	RM113	RM225	RM450	RM900
AIG	0.30%	RM75	RM150	RM300	RM600
Allianz	0.20%	RM50	RM100	RM200	RM400
AXA	0.20%	RM50	RM100	RM200	RM400
Etika	0.50%	RM125	RM250	RM500	RM1,000
Kurnia	0.23%	RM58	RM115	RM230	RM460
MPI Generali	0.15%	RM38	RM75	RM150	RM300
MSIG	0.20%	RM50	RM100	RM200	RM400
RHB	0.25%	RM63	RM125	RM250	RM500
Takaful	0.50%	RM125	RM250	RM500	RM1,000
Tokio Marine	0.20%	RM50	RM100	RM200	RM400

Special perils coverage rates from insurance providers in Malaysia; click to enlarge

These rates are for the total insured sum, but with certain insurance providers, you can determine the amount of sum insured (lower if you want), which comes with different rates. Certain special perils coverage options can also be limited in that some only cover floods, while others have expanded coverage to include other acts of God (volcanoes, landslides, trees, lightning strikes etc.)

For example, Etiqua provides two options, with the basic flood coverage (floods and storms) having a rate of 0.25%, while the expanded flood coverage adds on landslides, hurricanes and other convulsions of nature for a rate of 0.5%. Here, we're presenting a simplified overview showing the rates for full coverage, but it's always best to check in with your respective insurance provider or agent for the finer details.

As you can see, the rates for special perils coverage for the insurance providers listed do not exceed 1%, with some being as low as 0.15% and some as high as 0.5%. As these rates are applied on the sum insured, the higher the amount being insured, the more you'll need to pay.

For example, if you're insuring for RM25,000, you're paying as little as RM38 with MPI Generali, while other insurance providers like Allianz, AXA, MSIG and Tokio Marine offer the coverage for RM50. With higher rates like those provided by AIA, AIG, Etiqua, Kurnia, RHB and Takaful, the payable amount is between RM63 to RM125.

These amounts increase as the insured sum goes up, as seen with examples involving RM50,000, RM100,000 and RM200,000. Keep in mind that the payable amount of special perils coverage will be subject to 6% SST, and you could save should there be any ongoing promotions or discounts. It should also be noted that some auto insurance policies do include flood coverage, although there are limited in terms of how much you can claim, be it a fixed amount or a certain percentage of the insured sum; some policies also provide flood inconvenience allowances.

For a small fee relative to your vehicle's value, you could save yourself from having to drain your bank account to have your vehicle fixed due to flood damage. If you happen to be renewing your auto insurance, special perils coverage should be high on your priority list for that peace of mind. Nature is unpredictable, but ensuring you are protected shouldn't have to be.

Bank tempatan memulakan 'misi' bantuan kewangan merangkumi moratorium bayaran balik pinjaman kepada pelanggannya yang terjejas akibat banjir yang melanda beberapa negeri di seluruh negara beberapa hari lalu.

Antara bank terawal mengumumkan penawaran bantuan kewangan adalah Maybank iaitu Bantuan Sokongan Banjir kepada individu, perusahaan kecil dan sederhana (PKS) serta pelanggan bukan runcit lain yang terjejas akibat banjir.

Menurut Maybank, pelanggan boleh memohon Bantuan Sokongan Banjir melalui e-mel kepada floodrelief@maybank.com dengan menyediakan nama atau nama syarikat, nombor kad pengenalan/pendaftaran perniagaan, nombor telefon, jenis pinjaman/produk (contohnya gadai janji, sewa beli, pembiayaan pinjaman bertempoh) serta nombor kenderaan (untuk sewa beli).

"Pelanggan juga boleh mengunjungi atau menghubungi mana-mana cawangan Maybank, pusat PKS, pusat perbankan perniagaan atau pusat kewangan auto di seluruh negara.

"Semua permohonan dinilai berdasarkan kes demi kes. Bank juga menawarkan pengecualian yuran dan caj bagi perkhidmatan terpilih seperti penggantian kad debit, kad ATM atau buku cek yang hilang atau rosak semasa banjir," katanya.

Selain itu, cabang insurans Kumpulan Maybank, Etiqa telah menyediakan proses tuntutan yang cepat dan mudah bagi pemegang polisi insurans serta pemegang sijil takafulnya tanpa sebarang borang atau dokumen sokongan.

Sementara itu, CIMB Group Holdings Bhd (CIMB) mengumumkan sokongan pelepasan bayaran obligasi kewangan bagi membantu pelanggan individu dan perniagaan yang terjejas akibat banjir di seluruh negara.

Di bawah Pelan Bantuan Sokongan Banjir, ia bersama CIMB Bank dan CIMB Islamic Bhd memberikan pelepasan bayaran selama enam bulan membabitkan produk pinjaman dan pembiayaan untuk pelanggan individu dan PKS/perniagaan yang terjejas akibat banjir bagi membantu meringankan beban kewangan mereka.

"Selain itu, caj lewat dan yuran untuk pelanggan terjejas akan dikesampingkan. Untuk pelanggan PKS terjejas yang memerlukan bantuan aliran tunai tambahan di samping pelepasan pembayaran, bank juga menawarkan Bantuan Kemudahan Bencana sehingga RM500,000 pada kadar pembiayaan utama," katanya dalam satu kenyataan.

Bagi pelanggan Ambank Group yang terjejas akibat banjir pula, mereka ditawarkan moratorium sehingga enam bulan untuk se-mula kemudahan pinjaman dan pembiayaan termasuk kemudahan kad kredit, tanpa caj lewat atau penalti dikenakan sepanjang tempoh moratorium.

RHB Banking Group (RHB) pula tampil dengan Program Bantuan Banjir dengan pelanggan individu yang layak boleh memohon penangguhan bayaran ansuran sehingga enam bulan bagi gadai janji, pinjaman/pembiayaan Amanah Saham Bumiputera (AS), pinjaman/pembiayaan peribadi dan sewa beli.

Bagi PKS, RHB berkata, pelanggan boleh memohon moratorium ke atas kemudahan pembiayaan sedia ada ke atas prinsipal dan/atau faedah/keuntungan.

"Di samping itu, RHB akan menyediakan dana pembiayaan bantuan banjir untuk PKS, termasuk moratorium ansuran untuk pelanggan PKS baharu dan sedia ada dengan kemudahan pembiayaan sehingga RM300,000 bagi tempoh tiga tahun daripada kadar utama," katanya.

Dalam pada itu, Affin Bank Bhd (AFFIN BANK) dan Affin Islamic Bank Bhd (AFFIN ISLAMIC) juga menawarkan bantuan moratorium sehingga enam bulan di bawah inisiatif bantuan kewangan bank yang dikenali sebagai Program Bantuan Kewangan dan Bantuan Ansuran (F.A.I.R.).

Public Bank dan Public Islamic Bank pula menawarkan bantuan pembayaran balik kepada pelanggan pinjaman dan pembiayaan yang terjejas oleh banjir baru-baru ini di beberapa negeri di Malaysia termasuk Kuala Lumpur, Selangor, Kelantan, Terengganu, Pahang, Negeri Semb-

OCBC Bank berkata, pelanggan individu, perusahaan mikro, PKS, komersial dan korporat yang terjejas boleh berhubung jika mereka perlu membincangkan tentang keperluan bantuan atau penstrukturan semula pinjaman atau skim pembiayaan sedia ada.

Berikutan bencana banjir yang melanda negara ketika ini, semua pelanggan SME Bank yang terkesan akan diberi bantuan mengikut keperluan perniagaan masing-masing untuk menjadikan penyaluran bantuan yang lebih berkesan dapat ditawarkan.

KUALA LUMPUR, Dec 9 — Deputy Yang diPertuan Agong Sultan Nazrin Muizzuddin Shah today officiated the launch of the National Cancer Society Malaysia's (NCSM) new coffee table book Building the Pink Road of Hope.

The Sultan of Perak was accompanied by his wife, Raja Permaisuri Perak Tuanku Zara Salim.

The coffee table book — researched and penned by NCSM — chronicles the free mammogram screening programme the group has been conducting in partnership with Etiqa since 2017 to provide breast cancer screening and detection for underprivileged Malaysian women.

Speaking during the event, NCSM principal patron Tan Sri Rafidah Aziz said multiple effective collaborations were the key towards better cancer screening, treatment, and post treatment support programmes.

“The launch of this coffee table book marks a milestone for NCSM and Etiqa and is a testament for the work they have done in the sphere of cancer control in Malaysia.

“Etiqa stands out as one of NCSM's noteworthy partners as seen via its long-term commitment to cancer control, and it is hoped that they continue to have a long and fruitful partnership,” she said.

NCSM president Datuk Dr Saunthari Somasundaram said that the book was crucial in documenting the myriad insights and experience from the conception, planning and implementation of the programme.

“When I was asked to pick the colour for the cover of this book, I picked bright pink. The science of colours tells us that bright, bold and vibrant colours work best to attract attention.

“That is precisely what we aim to achieve with this book — attract attention and raise awareness on breast cancer — the number one cancer affecting women in Malaysia. This is just the beginning and we won't stop in our efforts for cancer detection and prevention,” he said.

Dr Saunthari said that the free breast cancer screening programme enabled underprivileged women and communities in Peninsula Malaysia to obtain mammography screening, and if necessary, ultrasound scans biopsies needed to confirm and exclude breast cancer.

“Multiple partners have been enrolled into the programme to provide comprehensive, timely support to the participants.

“This includes partner private hospitals with mammography services in various states across Peninsular Malaysia, as well as partner organisations who have strong relationships and proven history of working with underprivileged communities to enable penetration and uptake from the targeted participant groups,” she said.

She added that in total, the programme has completed three phases from July 2017 till October 2020 across 11 states and has benefitted a total of 17,738.

Projek air terawat Etiqua beri manfaat kepada penduduk dua rumah panjang

SIMUNJAN: Masalah takungan air hujan tidak terawat yang dihadapi oleh penduduk di dua rumah panjang di Kampung Benat Hulu di sini sejak 30 tahun lalu, kini berakhir dengan penyerahan sistem tadahan hujan diperbaharui yang dibiayai sepenuhnya oleh Etiqua dan dilaksanakan dengan kerjasama Islamic Aid Malaysia (IAM).

Dilaksanakan sebagai program tanggungjawab sosial korporat (CSR) Etiqua, projek itu dilancarkan pada September 2019, namun ia terhenti seketika disebabkan pandemik COVID-19.

Kerja-kerja pembaharuan bergerak semula selepas sekatan perjalanan dilonggarkan dan projek ini siap sepenuhnya awal bulan ini.

Mekanisme pembinaannya agak ringkas tetapi berkesan – sistem tadahan air hujan ini diolah semula, di mana air hujan yang melalui bumbung rumah panjang disalurkan melalui rabung ke dalam tangki-tangki simpanan aluminium yang menggantikan set tangki yang lama.

Menggunakan sistem penapisan air membran berskala tinggi dan ultra-ungu (UV), air hujan yang ditakung ini seterusnya dirawat sebelum dipam keluar ke setiap bilik penduduk dengan menggunakan pam elektrik.

Kaedah ini memastikan para penduduk di kedua-dua rumah panjang tersebut menerima bekalan air bersih yang telah dirawat secara langsung dan berterusan.

CERIA: Wong, diapit Zawahir (berdiri depan, tujuh kiri) dan Ketua Kampung Gubil Padat, turut bersama para wakil lain daripada Etiqua dan IAM dalam sesi foto bersama penduduk Kampung Benat Hulu.

Sebelum ini, para penduduk terpaksa membeli air mineral untuk minuman dan memasak.

Dalam ucapan beliau, Pengurus Wilayah Etiqua Sarawak Wong Chee Tung berharap dengan kemudahan sistem penapisan air itu, risiko untuk terdedah kepada pencemaran air dapat dikurangkan dalam kalangan penduduk dua rumah panjang di Kampung Benat Hulu ini.

“Saya juga berharap penduduk kampung dapat memanfaatkan sepenuhnya kemudahan yang disediakan dengan baik dan terpelihara.

“Ini selari dengan visi kami untuk menjadikan dunia ini sebuah tempat yang lebih baik, projek yang telah berjaya dilaksanakan ini merupakan sebuah lagi bukti keprihatinan Etiqua dalam meningkatkan mutu kehidupan, sosial dan ekonomi bagi masyarakat yang memerlukan bantuan di bawah program CSR kami dengan slogan ‘Etiqua Cares’ (Etiqua Peduli),” kata Wong sebelum merasmikan upacara penyerahan projek di Kampung Benat Hulu hari ini.

Menurut Presiden IAM Zawahir Abdullah, sebagai sebuah pertubuhan bukan kerajaan (NGO), badan ini memainkan peranan sebagai perantara kepada individu mahupun golongan korporat yang berhajat melaksanakan usaha-usaha kemanusiaan dan kebajikan dalam membantu golongan yang memerlukan.

“Kami berbesar hati kerana berpeluang untuk bekerjasama dengan pihak Etiqua untuk melaksanakan projek yang amat bermakna ini.

“Uniknya, projek Kampung Benat Hulu ini telah dilaksanakan secara bergotong-royong dan mengikut sistem giliran bagi tujuan melibatkan penyertaan semua penduduk kampung.

“Saya amat berbangga kerana penduduk di sini bersatu hati dan mempunyai semangat kerjasama yang tinggi bagi menayakan projek ini.

“Saya yakin usaha yang dilakukan oleh pihak Etiqua ini akan memberi kesan positif dan amat bermakna buat penduduk kampung ini,” tambah beliau.

SIMUNJAN (Dec 4): The problem of getting clean water supply is now a thing of the past for the villagers of two longhouses at Kampung Benat Hulu here, following the completion of a corporate social responsibility (CSR) project undertaken by Etiqua.

Fully funded by Etiqua and run in cooperation Islamic Aid Malaysia (IAM), this project covered the rebuilding and improvements works on the rainwater harvesting systems at these two longhouses.

The mechanism is straightforward – rainwater that runs over the roofs is directed via gutters into a set of aluminium reserve tanks, from which it would go through high-scale membrane and UV filters before being channelled as clean water into every household unit of the longhouses.

The pumps used are generated by electricity.

It is known that the longhouse villagers of Kampung Benat Hulu have been relying on rainwater for their daily use over the past 30 years. However, their previous method of storage was not sanitary; thus, they would still have to buy bottled water for drinking and cooking.

The Etiqua's CSR project kicked off in November 2019, but had undergone some delays due to the Covid-19 pandemic.

Wong, flanked by Zawahir (standing front, seventh left) and village headman Gubil Padat, joins the Etiqua and IAM teams in a group photo with the villagers after the ceremony.

After the lockdown was lifted, however, works had resumed up and the system was fully ready on Friday.

"We hope that this project would diminish the risks associated with consumption of untreated water.

"We also hope that the villagers would cooperate with each other to maintain this system.

Tzu Chi Foundation, industry leaders join forces to provide strategic response to Odette victims and for future calamities

The Philippine Business & News | December 23, 2021 | 7:21 pm |

A week shy from Christmas, the devastation wrought by super typhoon Odette has leveled large parts of the central and southern Philippines, placing six regions under a state of calamity: Mimaropa, Western Visayas, Central Visayas, Eastern Visayas, Northern Mindanao and Caraga. However, the lack of communications within the affected regions and the unpassable roads between the various towns have made the urgent distribution of assistance an enormous challenge. This prompted a call from and for business and NGO leaders to collaborate to get the communities back on their feet, as well as to form strategic responses for future calamities.

Bro. Henry Yunez, Country CEO of the humanitarian organization Buddhist Compassion Tzu Chi Foundation Philippines, welcomed the “chance to connect to these groups.” Referring to the faith on which their group was founded, he added that they welcome volunteers and resources from all sectors because “there is no religion involved in what we are doing.”

Since the clearing of the weather which has allowed volunteers and rescue missions to enter the affected regions, Tzu Chi has visited nine municipalities in Bohol and 15 in Southern Leyte. They have sent gallons of water and medicines to these provinces, while looking for more generators that can help in the pumping of water. There are plans to distribute rice to around 20,000 families soon after December 26.

Technology and transparency

When the Philippines was struck by 2013’s Yolanda, one the strongest typhoons in history, Tzu Chi’s response to the relief operations was considered to be one of the most impactful by civil society and government.

Beyond the collection and transportation of relief goods for the Odette victims, help is also needed for “heavy equipment and the construction side of things,” said Amor Maclang, Digital Pilipinas Convenor. A more “participative and transparent” collaboration of partners can tap fast-rising technology like fintech, e-commerce, and logistics to “move money faster” to the recipients who need them the most. Digital Pilipinas, a movement which addresses business and social challenges through technological adoption, has helped the Tzu Chi Foundation previously “even before Odette, to tech up their organization,” said Maclang. “Most importantly, we can leverage technology to show transparency of where the money is going.”

Tzu Chi Foundation Philippine and Digital Pilipinas’ recent meeting, “Typhoon Odette Relief Briefing and Response Planning,” was attended by industry leaders from the real estate, logistics, construction, financial services, payments, and retail spaces. It encouraged ‘Bayanihan’ and a whole-of-nation, whole-of-society approach towards addressing the situation in the Odette-struck areas.

Cherrie Rose Ang, Admin Senior Officer of Tzu Chi’s Admin and Volunteer Affairs Department, acknowledged that the “meeting is not just for awareness, but for support, cooperation, and unity.” Days after Odette has made nine landfalls across Visayas and Mindanao, Filipinos find themselves staying in temporary shelters or evacuation centers. Ang described the situation their volunteers reported: “Children are going out to the streets to beg for help. People are desperate to salvage whatever items they can get from their ruined houses.”

Various businesses represented in the webinar are already helping out in the relief efforts. Gladys Pascual, Etiqa Head of Strategy and Transformation, said that their program EtiqaCares is supporting the rehabilitation programs. Kim Lato, Founder of Kimstore, is opening their platform to collaborate with the Tzu Chi Foundation to launch a fundraiser. Meanwhile, Coins.PH CEO Nauman Mustafa shared that “instead of buying Christmas gifts for our partners, we will be donating instead.”

Even those struck by Typhoon Odette themselves are organizing relief operations. Roy Miclat, President of 1 Cooperative Insurance System of the Philippines, said that his team is serving “in the remote areas, even though hundreds of our members have been affected by Odette.”

23 December 2021, The Philippine Business and News

Etiqua Philippines join forces to provide strategic response to Odette victims and future calamities

Long-term solutions

Meanwhile, in response to concerns about restoring communications and internet connectivity, Yoly Crisostomo, Globe SVP and Chief Sustainability Officer, said that the telecom giant is “doing what we can to make sure all the provinces struck by Odette become online and connected again.” She also pointed out that the increasing threats against climate change will only spur more and stronger typhoons especially for vulnerable countries like the Philippines. She said, “The challenge of our time is what are we going to do to become better the next time we are faced with the same situation.”

Miclat agreed that forward-looking activities “should not focus on one-time activities, like donation drives.”

One solution is the collaboration between Coins.ph’s Mustafa and Donna May Lina, Director and Executive Board of the OneLGC Lina Group of Companies. Both companies will be tokenizing the efforts for tree planting to better encourage Filipinos to take part in the rehabilitation of the environment. With the Lina organization’s expertise in disaster preparedness, they are looking to onboard more people who can become better equipped when the next disaster strikes.

Marco Santos, representing the Mapua University and the Yuchengco group, said that the country can prepare the future architects, engineers, and other professionals with the knowledge to create resilient structures against calamities. He described it as “producing people who are ready for the job. We produce good engineers. Our first patent is called Project Usher and it enables us to monitor buildings during an earthquake.”

Technology will also be vital not only for the operations in response to Typhoon Odette but for the future. “We can align all our groups to make technology and our systems relevant,” Georgia Martelino, Philanthropist Lead of Microsoft Philippines, said. “Let us pool our resources and label it as a Tzu Chi platform so people can access it for free. We can start with digital literacy.”

Leveraging on its worldwide network of volunteers and employees, Tzu Chi Foundation Philippines is aiding in the rehabilitation, recovery, economic, and educational resumption of the areas affected by Typhoon Odette. They involve the communities themselves in various operations, which is also a way to provide them temporary sources of income.

“With love in our hearts, there is nothing we cannot overcome. We can come together and build again,” Anton Lim, OIC of Tzu Chi Zamboanga Liaison Office, said.

Maclang affirmed that the collaboration will continue because it not just “about Odette but about humanity.” There are plans for Tzu Chi, Digital Pilipinas, and the other companies to hold more meetings with more action plans as the situation develops.

The Tzu Chi Foundation Philippines is open for donations which can be sent through the following: Account name: Buddhist Compassion Relief Tzu Chi Foundation Philippines; BDO Account number: 011978001800; Metrobank Account number: 163-3-16307190-9. Tips Membeli Mobil Baru di Akhir Tahun

Momen akhir tahun selalu identik dengan penawaran promo menggiurkan hampir semua produk barang, termasuk mobil. Diskon yang diberikan bisa sangat signifikan. Cekpremi.com punya tips yang perlu diperhatikan bagi masyarakat saat berencana membeli mobil baru di akhir tahun ini.

Pertama, menentukan anggaran yang akan digunakan untuk membeli mobil. Kedua, melakukan riset terlebih dahulu untuk memastikan kendaraan yang diinginkan sesuai dengan anggaran yang sudah ditetapkan. Ketiga, tahu betul biaya pemeliharaan mobil yang akan dikeluarkan, karena pada dasarnya setiap kendaraan memiliki budget pemeliharaan yang berbeda-beda.

"Yang terakhir namun paling penting, mobil harus dilengkapi dengan proteksi asuransi, sebagai bentuk mitigasi risiko agar terhindar dari pengeluaran tak terduga di masa depan. Dengan punya asuransi mobil, pemilik mobil akan mendapatkan perlindungan karena ketika terjadi risiko yang menimpa kendaraan, biaya akan ditanggung oleh pihak asuransi," ungkap Direktur Cekpremi.com Ziko Goi di Jakarta, Rabu (15/12/2021).

Ziko menambahkan, khusus untuk promo akhir tahun, Cekpremi.com memberikan diskon berlipat ganda. Pemilik kendaraan bisa hemat hingga 40 persen untuk pembelian asuransi kendaraan dari perusahaan asuransi Simas Insurtech, Etika dan Artarindo. Bahkan untuk pembelian asuransi kendaraan dari Staco Mandiri, pemilik kendaraan bisa berhemat hingga 50 persen.

"Dengan diskon spesial akhir tahun ini, kami berkomitmen untuk membuat masyarakat semakin praktis berasuransi untuk mendapatkan proteksi. Pemilik kendaraan bisa langsung mengecek dan membeli asuransi kendaraan ini di Cekpremi.com. Promo ini berlangsung mulai dari tanggal 15 Desember sampai tanggal 25 Desember 2021," ungkap Ziko.

Selama periode promo, diskon spesial tak hanya diberikan untuk asuransi kendaraan, tetapi juga asuransi properti dan asuransi perjalanan. Ada diskon sebesar 15 persen dan cashback sebesar 10 persen untuk asuransi properti dari Simas Insurtech, Etika, Artarindo dan Staco Mandiri. Terakhir, ada diskon 15 persen dan cashback 10 persen untuk produk asuransi perjalanan dari Tokio Marine dan Zurich.

Singapore fintech Pand.ai launches broker with Allianz, Etiqua & MSIG

⚡ 1st December 2021 - Author: Matt Sheehan

Fintech startup Pand.ai has announced the launch of GINA.sg, an English-Chinese bilingual WhatsApp Chatbot that helps car owners in Singapore find motor insurance.

GINA.sg will be launched in partnership with insurers Allianz, Etiqua and MSIG.

It will offer digital brokerage services for general insurance under the Monetary Authority of Singapore (MAS) Fintech Sandbox program.

"Traditional online aggregators typically do not provide personalised quotes that are essential for car owners to make purchase decisions, while offline human agents do not have the expediency and convenience that online channels offer," said Chuang Shin Wee, CEO of Pand.ai.

"With GINA.sg, we are proud to partner with Allianz, Etiqua and MSIG to not only enable car owners to receive multiple quotes from different insurance companies in one go, but to do it conveniently using WhatsApp, in a language that they prefer, and even receive up to $200 cash-back for each policy that they buy."

GINA.sg represents the first direct to consumer service for Singapore-headquartered start-up Pand.ai, which has spent the previous five years building AI Chatbots for many financial institutions in the region, such as Bangkok Bank, CIMB and Schroders, using its proprietary Natural Language Processing (NLP) technologies.

During this time the company has built up a large, hyper-localised data corpus based on millions of live conversations while also gaining insight into consumer behaviour in Chatbot interactions.

Pand.ai plans to progressively add more general insurance products to GINA.sg after launch.

"GINA.sg not only provides car insurance comparison in an instantaneous and personalised manner but is able to do it conversationally on the popular WhatsApp platform," said Hicham Raissi, CEO of Allianz Singapore

Raymond Ong, CEO of Etiqua Singapore, also commented: "With WhatsApp becoming an integral part of our life, providing insurance services safely via this popular platform is a natural progression. We are excited to partner with Pand.ai to meet our customers' changing needs and always find ways to serve them better."

"When Pand.ai approached us with GINA.sg, we saw how she could better serve car insurance consumers," added Craig Ellis, CEO of MSIG Singapore. "Consumers can choose to be served in their preferred language and be guided conversationally throughout the process, making car insurance purchase a breeze."
